Southern To Hold Music Festival With Cast of 2000

An outdoor concert rivaling metropolitan operas in scope, color, and excellence will be presented here at Southern Illinois University May 12 with a cast of more than 2,000 Southern Illinois musicians.

"Music Under the Stars" is the title of the 1951 Southern Illinois Music festival to be held in McAndrew Stadium under the direction of Floyd V. Wakeland, associate professor of music.

PERFORMERS in the festival have been selected from grade and high school bands in 35 cities. Outstanding musicians of the area will be honored, and two nationally known natives of Southern Illinois will be soloists. They are Burl Ives, noted folk ballad singer who was born in Newton, Ill., who will be a featured soloist and Helen Sparr of Anna, who has appeared on stage, radio, television, and in motion pictures.

Music will be furnished by a grade school band of 250, a high school band of 200, an elementary school chorus of 1,146, a high school choir of 800, the 70 piece Southern Illinois symphony, and more than 100 Madrigal singers.

Coebs of SIU will perform folk and interpretative dances, and baton twirlers from grade and high schools will give a twirling display. President D. W. Morris will serve as master of ceremonies.

Junior-Senior Prom Will Be Held May 11

Southern's annual Junior-Senior prom will be held May 11 in the parking lot by Lake Ridgway. The prom will be formal affair with music by Austin Little and his band from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Pre-Advisement For Summer School

Pre-advisement for the summer session will be held May 7-12. The undergraduate student who is planning to attend the summer session should report to his adviser and fill out two work sheets, according to an announcement from the Registrar.

After approving and signing the student's schedule, the adviser will keep one copy of the work sheet for his own files and return the other copy to the student. The student will keep his copy of the work sheet and bring it with him when he comes to the gymnasium on Registration Day.

The graduate student should report first to the Graduate Office for his pre-advisement materials.

Pre-advisement at this time does not include pre-registration, and no sectioning materials will be available. This procedure is limited at this time because of the relative small per cent of students on the campus who plan to attend the summer session.

New Honor Society Established Here By Faculty Members

A group of seniors and graduate students of outstanding scholarship will be elected this month to membership in a newly-established Honor Society here at Southern.

The society has been established by a group of faculty members who felt that the university needed an organization to recognize high standards of scholarship achieved by undergraduate and graduate students.

According to the constitution of the Honor Society, seniors will be eligible to election if they are of sound character, have had three terms of full-time work or the equivalent at Southern, have a scholastic average in the upper five percent of their class, and a grade average of at least 4.4.

GRADUATE STUDENTS having outstanding records are eligible, but not more than ten percent may be elected.

The faculty group who organized the society includes all faculty members who have been elected to the society of Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary. Dr. W. C. McDaniel, chairman of the mathematics department, has been serving as temporary chairman of the group. Officers have not yet been elected.

According to Dr. McDaniel, the society will hold an election of student members soon. A dinner to honor these students will be planned for later in the term.

Other members of the organizing group are: Dr. Amos Black, associate professor of mathematics; Kenneth Ervin, instructor in art; Dr. W. E. Keeper, chairman of the department of agriculture; Dr. Archibald McLeod, associate professor of speech; Dr. Vera Peacock, chairman of the foreign language department; and Mary Scholtes, instructor in home economics.

Obelisks Are Ready, Will Be Distributed Monday

For the first time in many years, Southern's yearbook, the Obelisk, is ready for distribution early in May. First shipment of the books arrived Tuesday, and by noon Wednesday all books in the shipment had been distributed.

Zoschke, Fischer To Give Recital Sunday

Marvin Zoschke, violinist, and Gilbert Fischer, pianist, instructors in music here at Southern, will present a public recital in the Little Theatre at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. No admission will be charged.

Zoschke has been a member of the faculty since last year. Concertmaster of the Southern Illinois Symphony, he is a graduate of the University of Kansas. He received his master's degree from Northwestern university and did advanced violin study at DePaul university.

Fischer was featured in the first of the series of faculty recitals. He participated in the three Beethoven afternoons presented on campus during March and April. Last year he gave several concerts.

Sunday's program will include: Beethoven's "Sonata in F Major, Opus 24," Franck's "Sonata in A Major," and the "Sonata in D Minor, Opus 108" by Brahms.

Southern To Publish Business Newsletter

A new bi-monthly publication, "Business Newsletter from Southern Illinois," will be launched this week by Southern.

The newsletter will carry current information on sales, statistics, production, credit, and various comprehensive reports, particularly on business trends in the state's southern counties.

Editor of the publication is Dr. Lewis A. Maverick, chairman of the department of economics.

The rest of the 2400 Obelisks that have been ordered will arrive on campus tomorrow and will be distributed Monday at the cashier's cage in the men's gym, according to A. B. Mifflin, editor of the 1951 Obelisk.

Students who have been in school all three terms this year are entitled to a free Obelisk upon the presentation of their activity tickets. Students who have not been in school all of the three terms may obtain a yearbook at a cost of $1.50 for each term not enrolled in school. Each student should get his own Obelisk, and all payments should be made in cash.

BESIDES being the first annual in a long time to actually come out early, this year's Obelisk marks another first—it is the first time Southern has had a yearbook of the large size.

Other highlights of the book are the fall, winter, and spring division pages which are in the colors brown, blue, and green respectively to better represent the seasons of the year.

Cover of the Obelisk is grey with modernistic light green lettering. The cover is designed with an all-over basket weave pattern.

40 Amateur Cameramen Attend Photo Fair

Forty amateur cameramen registered at Southern's second annual Photo Fair held at the journalism house and adjoining building Sunday.

There were 150 prints in the exhibit, four of which were from Tony Venti, who owns a large studio on 40th Street in New York City and rates along with Victor Keppler and Valentino Sarra as a top-notch commercial illustrator.

Students who contributed to the exhibit were: Alice Weidemann, Phyllis Alverson, Jack Cooper, Tom Weidemann, Tom Matthews, Dave Alverson, Bill Nesbitt, Walter Craig, and Carl England.

Robert Steffes, acting chairman of the journalism department, and William Horrell, instructor in journalism, also exhibited prints.

The display also included 72 prize-winning photos from the 1950 national high school photographic contest.

Other highlights of the fair were demonstrations on improving snapshots, dye transfer printing, and simple developing and printing and a continuous showing of motion pictures on photography.

Models on hand who posed for the amateur's lens were Georgia Greenwood, Marjorie Risley, Jean Niernman, and Marguerite Williams.

A Vote of Thanks

Congratulations are in order to this year's Obelisk staff, and especially to A. B. Mifflin, editor.

Not only is the 1951 Obelisk one of the most attractive we have ever seen, but it is also being distributed ahead of schedule this year, due to careful planning on the part of the staff.

Last year's yearbooks did not arrive until July 17, in the middle of summer term, making it difficult for many students to get theirs until fall. In contrast, the 1951 book will be distributed starting next Monday, May 7, more than two months earlier than last year.

SPRING TERM, 1949, the Obelisk was not ready until June 2, described by the Egyptian of that date as the earliest the yearbook had come out for several years.

The layout of the book is exceptionally neat and well-defined. We are glad to see a change from the usual Obelisk size and the use of a different type cover, with grey and chartreuse, instead of maroon or some other dark color.

All in all, we would like to give a special vote of thanks to the Obelisk staff for their efforts in presenting such an attractive book so efficiently and speedily. V. M.

Spring on Campus

And while handing out bouquets, we would like to compliment William Marberry, assistant professor of botany, for the pleasing appearance of the campus.

As we understand it, Mr. Marberry is responsible for the planting of spring flowers and shrubs at strategic spots on campus, as well as general care of the grounds.

Of course, the campus always looks its best when spring is "busting out all over," but a lot of the credit for its appearance goes to Marberry, who may be seen almost any day supervising and setting out flowers and plants.

Death of a Free Press

The principle of freedom of the press had its greatest setback of the century when Dictator Juan Peron of Argentina took over the free newspaper La Prensa recently.

Peron used extremely devious means to carry out suppression of the truth. He was not very open, as used to be the style among dictators, in silencing the voice of La Prensa.

The trumped-up method by which Peron took over this Argentine newspaper went something like this: a pretended conflict between a labor union (the people) and management (capital) was set up. Upon orders from the Peronista government, the union, controlled by that government, struck.

THE EDITOR OF La Prensa was thus painted as an enemy of the people, when in reality, his was the last dissenting voice against Peron totalitarianism. He was forced to flee the country.

News of the defeat of a free press in Argentina was greeted with sorrow by the American press (which itself is not nearly so free as it should be). Many newspapers flew flags at half-staff, in mourning for the death of a free La Prensa.

It is almost unbelievable that this happened in the Western Hemisphere, but a few of the "men on the street" seem to be worried about it. Not many of us realize that Juan Peron is an absolute dictator and seeks to step into the boots once infamously filled by Adolph Hitler. (Reprinted from The Mississippiian).

Library Magazines

Mutilated, Stolen

By Harry Reinert

A "conservative estimate" places the cost of replacing stolen and mutilated magazines in the library at $500 for a single year. Large numbers of magazines are discovered with little pieces or whole pages missing. Sometimes single copies and even bound volumes are stolen. All must be replaced.

The money that is spent for these replacements comes from the same fund that buys late fiction. Sometimes as much as $1.25 must be paid for a replacement copy of a 20-cent magazine. If magazines must be re-bound, the cost ranges from $3-$5 for a single volume—above the cost of replacement copies.

The most common mutilations are clippings of coupons, pictures, or whole articles. One student had the nerve to clip whole articles from a number of magazines and turn them in for a term paper—just pasting the articles on sheets of paper.

In the first year of open stacks, 125 volumes were stolen from the education reference section—all of them expensive books. At one time every single book on etiquette was missing. Other popular brands are collegiate and classical dictionaries, and books of humor.

Students sometimes wonder why they can't browse in the library stacks. We can only say "No wonder!" The total cost of thefts and mutilations—the actual cost of replacement copies and clerical time involved—undoubtedly runs into thousands of dollars every year.

It seems paradoxical that at a time when the university is scraping the bottom of the barrel for money and the library needs every possible cent for the purchase of new books, that students should wilfully cut their own throats—both as actual or potential tax-payers, and as students who need the services of the library.

It may be necessary to again close all stacks—as was the policy a few years ago. The extra clerical help necessary would be expensive, as well as the extra time it would take for the student to get a book or magazine. Also, magazine snippers should remember that they are mutilating state property—no minor charge.

Notable quote: Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested. But not literally.

DRAFT AGENCY ANNOUNCES RULE CONCERNING TESTS

Major General Lewis B. Hershey's selective service draft agency has announced that each eligible college student "must take the qualification test and have it in his files."

Available after today at the university bookstore will be the book, How To Prepare for Your Draft Test, edited by Jeremy Martin and a staff of experts. The price of the book is $1.35. The book covers 500 sample questions and answers and contains full practice materials.

Grad Students May Obtain Internships

Educational internship positions for graduate students are available here at Southern for the 1951-52 school year, Dr. Charles D. Neal, director of teacher training, announced today.

"The graduate level teacher, supervisor, or administrator internship program is designed to give graduate students practical experience in a public school while they are working on a master's degree in education," according to Dr. Neal. Graduate students may enroll either in a teaching, supervising, or administrative programs, majoring either on the secondary or the elementary level.

UNDER THIS PROGRAM, the intern will take 24 quarter hours of classwork in two summer terms, 8 quarter hours in Saturday or night courses, 4 quarter hours in field study, and 12 quarter hours (one-half school time) in on-the-job training. One-half time is devoted to duties assigned by the cooperating public school and college consultant according to the plan of internship. For this work the public school will pay the intern a salary of approximately one-half the regular teacher salary schedule.

According to Dr. Neal, internships in public schools in Southern Illinois for the 1951-52 school year are available in the following fields: primary elementary education, intermediate elementary education, instrumental music supervisor, high school administration, elementary school administration.

Application forms, which may be obtained from Dr. Neal's office are to be returned by May 10.

Southern Flag To Go To North Pole

Southern's new flag, featuring a "stylized Saluki" over a pyramid, will be dropped on the North Pole within two weeks by an SIU alumnus, according to Wayne Mann, Alumni service director.

The flag has been flown to the Scott Air Force base, from which it will be ferried immediately to the Eilson Air Force base at Fairbanks, Alaska.

The Saluki flag will then be dropped over the pole by Lt. Hubert H. Riheard, of the 58th Strategic Reconnaissance squad from "The Polecat," a B-29 in which he regularly makes runs over the North Pole.

Lt. Riheard graduated from Southern in 1947, receiving his B. A. in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

"Life and Newsweek magazines have both expressed an interest in Southern's venture," said Mann, "mainly due to the fact that this is the first time in history that a university flag has been dropped on the North Pole."

Library Has 1650 Books In Reprinted Collection

More than 1650 books make up the reprinted collection of books at the university library. These books can be ordered at any time, according to Elizabeth Stone, assistant director of the library.

The collection contains 528 titles of Everyman's library books, 270 Modern library books, 72 modern library Giants, more than 100 pocket books, 60 Perma books, 93 British Penguin and 41 American Penguin books. Prices of the books vary from 25c to one dollar.

Said Miss Stone, "We are very pleased at the way orders are coming in—the average has been approximately 25 orders a week since October."

Cvikevic, Political Refugee, Speaks At WSSF Benefit Assembly Monday

Speaking at the WSSF assembly Monday morning was George Cvikevic, Russian political refugee from Munich, Germany.

Cvikevic stressed the needs of the European students by saying that many of them would appreciate even just white paper on which to write their assignments, but that food and clothing are major items needed. He stated that the number of students has increased since before the war and is far out of proportion with the supplies available.

Cvikevic said he left Germany because "his political views collided with those of his country."

MISS CARBONDALE of 1951, four beautiful coeds, a quartet, a pianist, six steak dinners given by University President and Mrs. Delyte W. Morris, and several unidentified packaged items were auc-

Martin Loses 3-2 Game To Arkansas

The Arkansas State Indians avenged a 10-inning 8-6 defeat earlier in the season by pushing across a run in the ninth inning to beat the Southern Maroons 3-2 in a game played last Thursday. Reid Martin allowed but four hits and three walks, but failed to get the hitting support from his teammates.

The Indians scored two runs in the second inning on a walk, a single and an error by second baseman Ed Coleman on the play, and a fluke double off the bat handle of short-stop Tom Scott, driving in two runs.

The Maroons didn't get a man as far as third base until they tied the score in the eighth. Jim Schulbach led off with a single to left, his second hit of the game. Ed Coleman sacrificed him to second base, from where he scored on Valier's double. Center fielder Bill Busy tried a diving catch of Valier's hit, but couldn't hold the ball in his glove. Joe Jones then lined a single over second base to score Valier with the tying run.

Arkansas scored their winning run in the ninth on one hit. Cothorn, walked with one out. Daugherty singled to center, and the runners reached second and third when Bob Ems overcharged the ball, letting it roll through his legs.

It was on the next play that the winning run scored. Scott, who had batted in the two previous runs, hit a ground ball to deep short. Menendez fielded the ball, but had no chance for a play at the plate.

Bob Crone retired the Maroons in order in the ninth to end the game.

inning was Bob Ems' three run home run over the head of left fielder Jerry Smith. They counted up four more runs in the sixth on two errors, a walk, and singles by Jones and Don Campbell. Southern finished their scoring rampage with three final runs in the seventh on three hits and a walk. Bob Ems counted for two of the runs with a double to center with two on board.

The Maroons went wild on the base paths also, with a total of fifteen stolen bases off catcher Ken Kelbac. The Bears used five pitchers in all. Starter Jack Neighous toiled the longest, lasting four and one-third innings.

Grandcolas Is Hero In 14-6 Baseball Win

By Don Duffy

Even a four run margin in the first inning could not prevent the Washington U. Bears from losing their second game of the season to the Southern Maroons, as Southern went on to win, 14-6. This defeat was the tenth in eleven starts for the Washington nine this year.

The Bears routed SIU starting pitcher Reid Martin in the first inning before he was able to retire a man. An outburst of three hits, an infield error, two walks, and a hit batsman netted a total of six runs before relief pitcher Elmer Grandcolas put out the fire.

Grandcolas was called in with no outs and the bases crammed full of Bears. The little southpaw then proceeded to retire the next three men, and go on to pitch shut-out ball for seven more innings, before being relieved in the ninth by Tom Millikin. This brilliant relief stint seems to indicate that Grandcolas has finally found the confidence and assurance which he seemed to have lacked in earlier mound appearances.

Jones and Grandcolas carried the big bats for Southern, each collecting three hits. Left fielder Jim Schulbach got two for five to extend his hitting streak through seven games.

The Maroons will play Michigan

Normal in a two game series here today and tomorrow.
